NEW PROVINCIAL CABINET SWORN IN

Congratulations to my colleagues that are new to Cabinet or have remained in Cabinet. It is indeed an honour to serve as a Cabinet Minister and I wish everyone all the best in their important roles in our province. Special thanks to Warren Kaeding and Fred Bradshaw for their dedicated service.

Premier Scott Moe announced changes to the provincial cabinet today, with a mandate to protect and advance Saskatchewan's interests as work continues to achieve the targets set out in the Plan for Growth. The new cabinet was sworn-in by Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan Russ Mirasty.

"Never before has Saskatchewan had such an opportunity at a global level to grow our exports, our industries and our economy," Moe said. "Saskatchewan has among the most sustainable resources in the world, and this growth results in better services, programs and opportunities for Saskatchewan people."

The size of cabinet remains unchanged at 18, including the Premier.

Five MLAs remain in cabinet with new cabinet portfolios:

- Jim Reiter becomes Minister of Energy and Resources.
- Bronwyn Eyre becomes Saskatchewan's first-ever female Minister of Justice and Attorney General.
- Gordon Wyant becomes Minister of Advanced Education.
- Gene Makowsky becomes Minister of Social Services.
- Lori Carr becomes Minister of SaskBuilds and Procurement, Minister Responsible for the Public Service Commission, and Minister Responsible for Saskatchewan Liquor and Gaming Authority.

A new Sustainable Growth Secretariat will be established in Executive Council within the Premier's oversight under his existing responsibility for Intergovernmental Affairs.

"Not only does Saskatchewan have the food, fuel and fertilizer the world needs but our province is also home to the helium, lithium, copper, zinc, and rare earth minerals that will only be in increasing global demand into the future," Moe said.

Two MLAs are entering cabinet:

- Jeremy Cockrill becomes Minister of Highways, with responsibility for the Water Security Agency.
- Dana Skoropad becomes Minister of Environment.

In addition, Tim McLeod is appointed as the Provincial Secretary.

10 other MLAs retain their current cabinet portfolios:

- Donna Harpauer remains Deputy Premier and Minister of Finance.

- Don Morgan remains Minister of Crown Investments Corporation and becomes Minister responsible for all major crown corporations, including SaskEnergy, SGI, SaskPower, SaskTel, SaskGaming and SaskWater. Morgan remains Minister of Labour Relations and Workplace Safety and Minister Responsible for the Saskatchewan Workers' Compensation Board.
- Dustin Duncan remains Minister of Education.
- Christine Tell remains Minister of Corrections, Policing and Public Safety.
- Jeremy Harrison remains Minister of Trade and Export Development and Minister of Immigration and Career Training, Minister Responsible for Innovation Saskatchewan and Minister Responsible for Tourism Saskatchewan.
- David Marit remains Minister of Agriculture and Minister Responsible for Saskatchewan Crop Insurance Corporation.
- Paul Merriman remains Minister of Health.
- Don McMorris remains Minister of Government Relations, Minister Responsible for First Nations, Métis and Northern Affairs, and Minister Responsible for the Provincial Capital Commission.
- Laura Ross remains Minister of Parks, Culture and Sport, and Minister Responsible for the Status of Women.
- Everett Hindley remains Minister of Mental Health and Addictions, Seniors and Rural and Remote Health.

"Almost 70 per cent of what is produced in Saskatchewan is exported across the world, and that helps pay for new schools, new long-term care centres, new health programs and the staff to support these services and others that Saskatchewan people expect and deserve," Moe said.

20222 SIKH SOCIETY PARADE

What an incredible day in Saskatoon Willowgrove last Saturday! It was an honour to bring greetings on behalf of Premier Scott Moe, Minister of Parks, Culture and Sport, Laura Ross and the Government of Saskatchewan at the 2022 Sikh Society Parade.

The 5th Annual Saskatoon Sikh Parade represents so much that is right about our Province, as we celebrate diversity and inclusion with family and friends. Many of the values and teachings of the Sikh community reflect the values we hold dear in Saskatchewan and Canada.

As part of the Saskatchewan's Growth Plan, our Government continues to celebrate our multiculturalism and recognize the important contribution that new Canadians are making to our province. Special thanks to the Sikh Society of Saskatchewan for sharing their traditions and values and ensuring they are preserved through special events and celebrations such as this well attended celebration..

PROVINCE UNVEILS QUEEN ELIZABETH II PLATINUM JUBILEE MEDAL DESIGN

The medal features the crowned effigy of Queen Elizabeth II with her Canadian Style and Title on the front. The back of the medal includes the Saskatchewan Shield of Arms, separated by a pair of western red lilies (the provincial flower). The medal is suspended from a new arrangement of the blue, red and white ribbon used for Coronation and Jubilee Medals issued throughout The Queen's reign.

A total of 7,000 medals will be presented through the Platinum Jubilee year, which ends on February 5, 2023. The Government of Saskatchewan will partner with several organizations to distribute the medals to recipients across the province who have made contributions to Canada, Saskatchewan, or a particular region or community. Members of the Legislative Assembly will be given an allocation for their constituencies, and cities, SUMA, SARM, and New North have also been invited to participate in the program.

The Queen's Platinum Jubilee is the international celebration marking the 70th anniversary of the accession of Queen Elizabeth II to the thrones of seven countries, including Canada, on February 6, 1952. She is the first monarch in Canada's modern era to have celebrated a Platinum Jubilee. During her reign, The Queen has visited Saskatchewan five times, including in 2005 for the province's centennial.

CROP REPORT FOR THE PERIOD OF MAY 24 TO MAY 30,2022

Producers in the west are nearly wrapped up with seeding while many in the east are still behind due to rain delays and extremely wet fields. Currently, 76 per cent of the crop acres in the province have been seeded, up from 52 per cent last week but still well behind the five-year average (2017-21) of 93 per cent. Producers in the southeast and east central regions have reported that many low laying areas will go unseeded this year due to standing water.

Ninety-seven per cent of the crop is seeded in the southwest, 95 per cent in the west-central, 93 per cent in the northwest, 64 per cent per cent in the southeast, 60 per cent in the northeast and 50 per cent in the east-central region.
