A SPECIAL WEEKEND!

"There is no one perfect way to be a good mother. Each situation is unique. Each mother has different challenges, different skills and abilities, and certainly different children. What matters is that a mother loves her children deeply."

Elder M. Russel Ballard

As we celebrate Mother's Day, take a moment to honor and appreciate all the amazing mothers out there. Mothers play an invaluable role in our lives, and we owe them so much for their love, support, and guidance.

Whether you are a mother yourself, or you have a mother who has touched your life in some way, take the time to show them how much you care.

Let us also extend our love and support to those who are hurting. This Mother's Day, let us recognize all mothers who have lost a child. We acknowledge their strength and eternal love.

Sending special wishes for the mothers, grandmothers, godmothers, stepmothers, mothers-in-law, aunts, wives, partners, sisters, friends, mentors and women who love with a mother's heart!

A special Mother's Day wish to my wife Trish. It is a great weekend to show appreciation to moms everywhere for the special things they do each and every day. Happy Mother's Day weekend!

Mother's hold a special place in our hearts. Many have lost their mom and this special day is difficult. Cherish your memories. I will be thinking of the many wonderful times shared with my mother, Lucy Cheveldayoff

DISCOVER SASKATOON TEAM VISITS THEIR LEGISLATURE

I had the pleasure of welcoming Steph Clovechuk, CEO of Discover Saskatoon, and her team to the Saskatchewan Legislature this week.

John Howden, John Cote, and Board Chair Joan Stecham delivered informative presentations that were well-received by many of my MLA colleagues, despite the busy day.

Tourism plays a vital role in our city and province's economic growth and am grateful to Discover Saskatoon for the work they do.

SASKATCHEWAN CONNECTS INTERNATIONALLY AT GLOBAL SUMMIT FOR FOOD, FUEL, FERTILIZER

It was a pleasure to attend the Food, Fuel, Fertilizer Global Summit.

Premier Scott Moe spoke at the second-annual Food, Fuel, Fertilizer Global Summit, hosted by the Saskatchewan Chamber of Commerce. The summit, which takes place May 6 and 7 in Regina, brings together business leaders and international stakeholders interested in Saskatchewan's sustainable resource production.

"This year's event is an important opportunity for Saskatchewan businesses to connect, collaborate and meet with new potential partners from across the country and around the world," Premier Scott Moe said. "It is wonderful to host world-class speakers and offer a unique opportunity to share Saskatchewan's story on a global stage from right here at home."

The summit will showcase the province's reputation of being on the forefront of sustainable innovations in the agriculture, energy and mining industries.

"We are pleased to be hosting distinguished leaders such as Premier Moe, the Right Honourable Stephen Harper, Former Premier of Saskatchewan, Brad Wall, the Honourable David Wilkins, Former US Ambassador to Canada and many esteemed business leaders from across Canada and around the world," Saskatchewan Chamber of Commerce CEO Prabha Ramaswamy said. "The Saskatchewan Chamber of Commerce welcomes this opportunity to play a role in positioning our province as a compelling investment destination and a hub for global brands seeking to contribute to a sustainable and thriving ecosystem."

SASKATCHEWAN MAKES PROGRESS ON SUICIDE PREVENTION WORK

The Government of Saskatchewan is making progress on suicide prevention initiatives, as it marks the four-year anniversary of its suicide prevention plan.

Pillars for Life: The Saskatchewan Suicide Prevention Plan serves as a guide to coordinate activities to promote life and reduce risk factors related to suicide.

"The entire community, including family, friends and neighbours, feels the tragic loss of a person by suicide," Mental Health and Addictions Minister Tim McLeod said. "By partnering with organizations through the Pillars for Life plan, we continue to make progress on initiatives across the province to support the mental health of Saskatchewan residents."

CELEBRATING NURSES ACROSS SASKATCHEWAN DURING NATIONAL NURSING WEEK

Thank you to over 19,000 nurses working across Saskatchewan for their contributions to the health and well-being of residents of our growing province.

National Nursing Week from May 6 to 12 is an opportunity to celebrate over 19,000 nurses working across the province for their contributions to the health and wellbeing of Saskatchewan residents.

"Nurses of all designations are critical to the health of our communities and the future of the health care sector," Health Minister Everett Hindley said. "The Government of Saskatchewan recognizes nurses strengthen health care teams and play an important part in meeting the health care needs of our rapidly growing province. We remain committed to supporting our nurses."

DOGS' BREAKFAST A HUGE SUCCESS

I was delighted to attend the 1400 strong Huskie Football Dogs Breakfast, where I was among a group of esteemed community leaders who are dedicated to mentoring young athletes and fostering the growth of future community leaders.

Kudos to the Huskie Football Foundation for hosting another exceptional community gathering.

RECORD-BREAKING NUMBER OF SURGERIES PERFORMED IN SASKATCHEWAN IN 2023-24

Improving Access

2023–24 was another record-breaking year for surgical volumes in Saskatchewan, with more than 95,700 surgeries performed, the highest annual volume ever recorded.

Saskatchewan's surgical teams achieved another record-breaking year for surgical volumes in 2023-24 surpassing the high volume recorded last year. More than 95,700 surgeries were performed between April 1, 2023, and March 31, 2024, the highest annual surgical volume ever recorded.

"Thank you Saskatchewan surgical teams, for your work every day ensuring patients are receiving the care they need," Health Minister Everett Hindley said. "Our surgical teams are making significant strides in ensuring patients receive timely surgical procedures. Our government continues to make record investments in human resources to increase capacity in our surgical systems and address wait times."

Almost 6,000 more surgeries were performed in 2023-24 than the previous record volume recorded in 2022-23.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Our government continues to invest in the things that matter most to Saskatchewan people – classrooms, care and communities. These investments are only possible due to the strength of our province’s growing economy. That’s why our government is committed to investing in the province’s key economic sectors – so that growth continues and we can reinvest the benefits of that growth into our great province.

The Ministry of Energy and Resources and its $53.8-million budget will support our growing economy with a focus on Saskatchewan’s world-class natural resources. Included in the ministry’s budget is $10 million in funding over 10 years for the Public Geoscience Initiative, which will increase exploration to drive the province’s Critical Minerals Strategy.

To help ensure the permitting process for the exploration of natural resources is efficient and effective, the budget provides the Ministry of Environment funding for enhancements.

In recognition of the important role of critical minerals, the budget introduces the Saskatchewan Critical Mineral Innovation Incentive for new pilot projects and the complementary Critical Mineral Processing Investment Incentive for new or expanded value-added processing projects.

To further encourage investment in the provincial economy, the budget includes enhancements to several industry programs. The Saskatchewan Petroleum Innovation Incentive application period has been extended an additional five years and the funding cap has been increased to a maximum of $100 million in royalty credits. The Oil and Gas Processing Investment Initiative program has also been extended an additional five years and increased the funding cap to a maximum of $500 million in Crown royalty credits.

The Saskatchewan Commercial Innovation Incentive has been extended by one year to allow for a program review, which will include engaging with industry. The annual program cap on the amount of non-refundable tax credits that may be issued has been doubled to $7 million annually under the Saskatchewan Technology Start-Up Incentive and eligibility has been expanded to start-ups in the cleantech and all agtech sectors, as well as expanded by one year.

Another new addition under the budget is the Multi-lateral Well Program, which will facilitate the development of previously inaccessible or uneconomic oil plays and will attract increased oil well drilling to Saskatchewan.

The budget provides a $140-million Clean Electricity Transition Grant (CETG) to SaskPower for use towards in-year clean electricity operating costs, which will help maintain affordable power rates for customers. The CETG is tied to electricity-sector revenues.

Saskatchewan established the Small Modular Reactor Investment Fund to support the future development of the province's first small modular nuclear reactor, which will provide zero-emission baseload power. The fund will receive annual allocations tied to electricity sector revenues, with all investment income earned retained in the fund. By the close of this fiscal year, it is projected the fund will be a $568.4-million asset for the province.

The budget invests $570.6 million in agriculture, an increase of $22.4 million, or 4.1 per cent, from last year. This funding will allow the Ministry of Agriculture to fund agricultural research and enhancements to crop insurance while investing in programming for producers and agri-businesses.

In recognition of the challenging weather and soil conditions faced by some producers, the ministry's budget provides $431.7 million to fund federal-provincial risk management programs, including Crop Insurance and Agri Stability. This is an increase of $23.7 million from last year.

With regards to forestry, the budget provides funding to accelerate work on the Forest Resource Inventory Project, helping to achieve the Growth Plan goal of doubling Saskatchewan's forestry industry.

These investments are creating strong results across our economy. We recently received news that Saskatchewan's GDP ranked second in the nation for growth in 2023 at 1.6 per cent. That's ahead of the national rate of 1.2 per cent.

This total dollar value of the province's 2023 GDP is $77.9 billion – a record high. Saskatchewan has one of the strongest and fastest-growing economies in the nation. This record growth doesn't just happen – it's a reflection of the policy environment that has fostered and incentivized record investment and record exports.

As our government continues to make strategic investments into key sectors of the Saskatchewan economy, we look forward to hearing your feedback. You can reach my office at ken.cheveldayoff.mla@sasktel.net or call 306.651.7100.

NEW SUPPORTS FOR FAMILIES WITH CHILDREN REQUIRING OUT OF PROVINCE CARE

The Government of Saskatchewan announced it will be providing financial assistance to families who are referred out of province for medical care for their child.

The province will reimburse transportation and accommodation expenses for pediatric patients aged 16 and younger, along with a caregiver, effective retroactively to the beginning of the fiscal year April 1, 2024.

"We understand the challenges families can face when they have a sick child, particularly those who are also having to deal with travel accessing specialized care outside of the province," Health Minister Everett Hindley said. "That's why we are taking steps today to reduce the financial burden for families so they can focus on their healing journey for their child."

Similar to any medical treatment sought outside of the province, prior approval must be obtained from the Ministry of Health before travel. The main criteria is that the surgical or diagnostic treatment must be medically-necessary and not available in Saskatchewan. The specialist physician or surgeon who applies for the prior approval must also indicate the expected length of stay required for treatment.

Expenses covered include the cost of transportation by airline or car, hotels or stays with family members and meals up to $2,000 per trip.

May 6 to 12 is Economic Development Week!

The Government of Saskatchewan has proclaimed May 6 to 10 as Economic Development Week in Saskatchewan. This week highlights the various ways in which provincial businesses and organizations are creating economic opportunities for Saskatchewan people. Economic Development Week is supported by the Saskatchewan Economic Development Alliance (SEDA).

"Our province is growing at rates not seen for more than a century, and our economy continues to accelerate with record private capital investment and GDP," Trade and Export Development Minister Jeremy Harrison said. "This economic growth doesn't just happen; it is the result of continuous work being undertaken to attract investment and create new opportunities in our communities across the province. There has never been a better time to invest in Saskatchewan."

RECOGNIZING SAFETY AND HEALTH WEEK

The Government of Saskatchewan has officially proclaimed May 6-11 as Safety and Health Week in Saskatchewan.

"This week is an opportunity for everyone to commit to safety in our workplaces, homes and communities," Labour Relations and Workplace Safety Minister Don McMorris said. "By focusing our attention toward health and safety we can help prevent serious injuries, illnesses and fatalities from taking place."

Safety and Health Week, formerly known as North American Occupational Safety and Health Week, began in 1997, and is observed annually in Canada, the United States and Mexico. The purpose of the day is to focus employers, employees, partners and the public on the importance of preventing injury and illness in the workplace, at home and in the community.

PROGRAM FOR STUDENTS WITH DOWN SYNDROME RECEIVES SUPPORT FROM PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT

I was pleased to join my colleagues at this important announcement. MLA, Marv Friesen did a great job emceeing this event.

Education Minister Jeremy Cockrill and Health Minister Everett Hindley joined students and staff from the Ability in Me (AIM) Program in Saskatoon to highlight and celebrate the organization's ongoing success.

The AIM Program is a non-profit organization offering specialized therapy and programs that promote inclusion in the home, school and community for learners with Down syndrome and their families.

The ministries of Education and Health continue to work collaboratively to support the needs of learners with Down syndrome. In the 2024-25 provincial budget, the Government of Saskatchewan provided $677,000 to the organization.

"We are working together to continue to care for and support children and families in Saskatchewan," Cockrill said. "Every child should have the opportunity to recognize their full potential, and our ongoing investment into the AIM Program is a testament to that."

"We are proud to support the AIM program and its commitment to providing opportunities for youth with Down syndrome to thrive," Hindley said. "By offering specialized training, mentorship and support services, AIM empowers people to pursue their dreams and contribute their unique talents."

AQUATIC INVASIVE SPECIES AWARENESS WEEK

Join us in recognizing Saskatchewan Aquatic Invasive Species Awareness Week from May 6 to May 10 as the Government of Saskatchewan thanks the public for taking on their role in keeping aquatic invasive species (AIS) at bay.

AIS are plants, fish or diseases that have the potential to negatively impact the environment and can be unintentionally spread through recreational activities such as boating and fishing.

"Aquatic invasive species present a serious risk to Saskatchewan waters," Environment Minister Christine Tell said. "The public plays a critical role in helping slow the spread by using the clean, drain, dry technique, as well as submitting to watercraft inspections."

GOVERNMENT LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN TO RAISE AWARENESS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING AND SEXUAL EXPLOITATION

A province-wide campaign to raise awareness of human trafficking and sexual exploitation was launched in Regina today by government and community partners. With an emphasis on prevention and connecting people to services, the campaign includes posters that will be placed in high traffic locations like restaurants, gas stations and libraries throughout the province.

"Many don't realize that human trafficking is a reality in our communities," Minister Responsible for Status of Women Office Laura Ross said. "It is vital that people be aware of the problem, understand the signs and access supports. This campaign is focused on prevention and early intervention to let people know they are not alone, that we believe them, and help is available."

GOVERNMENTS OF CANADA AND SASKATCHEWAN INVEST $25 MILLION IN AGRICULTURE RESEARCHERS

Canada's Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food Lawrence MacAulay and Saskatchewan's Agriculture Minister David Marit announced $25 million to support 15 strategic research chairs at the University of Saskatchewan's (USask) College of Agriculture and Bioresources through the Sustainable Canadian Agricultural Partnership.

"Investing in research is vitally important to the long-term resilience and continued growth of Canada's agriculture sector," MacAulay said. "I have no doubt this innovative research will help ensure our farmers stay on the cutting edge."

"The Government of Saskatchewan is committed to funding evidence-based research initiatives to better serve our agriculture sector," Marit said. "Providing stable funding to attract and retain leading scientists in key strategic areas increases the competitiveness and resilience of Saskatchewan's agriculture sector and our provincial economy along with it."

AGRICULTURE STUDENT SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS ANNOUNCED IN SASKATCHEWAN

May 6, Saskatchewan students pursuing a post-secondary education in agriculture were awarded scholarships from the federal and provincial governments.

“Young people are truly the future of the sector, and I would like to congratulate this year’s scholarship recipients,” Federal Agriculture and Agri-Food Minister Lawrence MacAulay said. “By furthering their post-secondary education, these young people are setting a foundation for successful careers in a strong, sustainable agricultural sector.”

"Witnessing the passion and knowledge of Saskatchewan's youth through the Agriculture Student Scholarship submissions has been truly remarkable," Agriculture Minister David Marit said. "Saskatchewan is a world leader in agriculture which is why it is so important that we invest in the education of our future industry leaders. Congratulations to this year's recipients."
