CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL OF SASKATCHEWAN DESIGN UPDATE

The Saskatoon Health Region has now completed the design development for the new Children's Hospital of Saskatchewan and is moving through the review process with the Ministry of Health.

This phase of the design process took four week-long sessions with their design teams and equipment planners. The Saskatoon Health Region consulted with groups of staff, physicians, and patients and families to gain ideas of how each room should be set up, including family rooms. The groups also developed a list of equipment and furniture needs. A detailed design of this plan is expected to be unveiled early this year.

To ensure that the hospital is going to be a true reflection of Saskatchewan as a whole, the project team also reached out provincially this past spring and summer. The team visited classrooms in Stony Rapids, La Ronge, Ile a la Crosse, Meadow Lake, and Kerrobert. They worked with more than 250 students to capture some of their ideas of what the rooms should look like as well. The team was also able to get ideas from children and teenagers throughout the province by mail-in response.

As the team continues to move through the normal review process of a government funded capital project, they are preparing to work with architects and design teams on the hospital's construction document. This work is expected to take most of 2013.

The construction of the new hospital is scheduled to begin in early 2014 with construction completion in late 2016.

SURGERY WAIT TIMES STATS SHOW GRADUAL GAINS

After an earlier stall in progress, November showed the second consecutive month of modest gains toward the goal of providing all surgeries within six months by April 2013. Statistics for November 30, 2012 show that there were 299 fewer people waiting more than six months for surgery than the month before.

In November 2007, there were 10,635 people waiting more than six months for surgery. Efforts across the province have reduced that number by 60 per cent to 4,271 people.

"Surgical teams in Saskatchewan are working together to achieve more timely surgeries for patients while improving safety," Health Minister Dustin Duncan said.

LOWER GENERIC DRUG PRICES COMING IN APRIL

The recent announcement that Canadian provinces and territories are moving forward on price setting for six generic drugs will realize an estimated annual savings of close to $10 million for Saskatchewan residents, private insurers and the provincial government.

The price setting announcement was made today by Saskatchewan Premier Brad Wall and Prince Edward Island Premier Robert Ghiz through the Council of Federation. The two premiers led the Health Care Innovation Working Group, which recommended action on generic drug prices last summer.

"Saskatchewan is pleased to collaborate with other provinces and territories to realize significant cost savings on important drugs that patients rely on," Health Minister Dustin Duncan said. "By working together, we can do more to bend the cost curve."

NON-RESIDENTIAL CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY INCREASES IN THE FOURTH QUARTER OF 2012

Non-residential construction in Saskatchewan rose 17.8 per cent in the fourth quarter of 2012, the highest year-to-year increase among the provinces, according to Statistics Canada. Construction totalled $462.4 million in the province during the fourth quarter. On a national basis, building permits were up only 2.1 per cent over the same period.

“Saskatchewan’s economy is undergoing a period of prosperity which has triggered more construction across the province,” Economy Minister Bill Boyd said. “Non-residential construction has been experiencing a spike in activity as commercial projects and potash mine expansions come on stream which is good in terms of job creation and other spin-off benefits.”

SASKATCHEWAN MANUFACTURING SHIPMENTS SECOND HIGHEST IN CANADA

The province's manufacturing shipments are maintaining a leading position in Canada for 2012 and continuing to set monthly records.

Manufacturing shipments were up 4.7 per cent in November 2012 over November 2011, according to Statistics Canada. Nationally, Saskatchewan had the second highest increase among provinces in terms of percentage change, and set a record once again for the month of November.

"Saskatchewan's manufacturing sector continues to have a solid performance for 2012," Economy Minister Bill Boyd said. "Not only are we second among all provinces, but results for November are more than nine times the national average of 0.5 per cent."
